In Elysian Park Monument #1, Joseph Imhauser explores the Park's private and public space as well as its importance within the communities it serves. The colorful sticks resembling the game Pick-Up Sticks brings a light and celebratory atmosphere to different sections of the park, some in open grassy fields, others off obscure dirt paths removed from the Park's playgrounds and picnic tables. Alluding to the multiple experiences shared within Elysian Park, Monument #1 celebrates the potential the Park holds as a space for social interaction.
